INTRODUCTION

Services, Utilization and Marketing (SUM) Committee of the Southern Group of State Foresters, and the Southern Regional Extension Forestry (SREF) at the University of Georgia present the 2015 Secondary Forest Products Manufacturer Directory. This publication lists and provides contact information for secondary forest products companies in six southern states: Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia. Secondary forest product companies are defined as those which use processed wood, i.e., products from primary wood-using mills, as their inputs to produce furniture, wood fixtures, molding, trusses and other engineered wood products. Primary wood-using mills are defined as those utilizing roundwood logs as their raw material to produce lumber, plywood, pulp, wood-derived chemicals, paper, packaging materials and other products. This publication is a hardcopy version of the Secondary Forest Products Locator website available online at <http://ForestProductsLocator.org>. This website also provides directory information for primary wood-using mills in the southern U.S. via a separate panel on the same page. To go directly to the secondary forest products network panel use the following address: <http://Secondary.ForestProductsLocator.org>.

The data for the 2015 Secondary Forest Products Manufacturer Directory was collected by individual participating states using a common data template. This template was developed from a phone questionnaire data collection sheet originally proposed by North Carolina representative, Harry Watt. The final data template was arrived at through a series of conference calls, email correspondence and other interactions among the six participating states with the help of Daniel Drummond of the IT section at SREF. Ultimately, the data collection was organized around 22 relevant codes of the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). These codes are shown on the second page of the Data Collection Template following this introduction. The text descriptors of the NAICS codes used in this project serve as section headings in the Table of Contents and on individual State pages in this directory. Individual State appearance in the book, Table of Contents, section headings, and business entries are all organized alphabetically.

Exact methods used for collection of directory information differed by State depending on previously available information, existing expertise and in-house resources. However, in each case a combination of existing industry directories, both produced internally and available commercially, internet searches and phone calls were used to verify business entries published in this book.

Due to space limitations, only business name, address and phone number for each listed company are provided in this book. All other collected information is available online at the url addresses indicated above. It is the intent of the SUM Committee and the SREF that directory entries provided online will be updated by each participating State as necessary to provide the most accurate information possible reflecting new business openings, any known closures, company acquisitions, mergers and other changes.

This book and accompanying website are the results of work of many people and institutions listed in the Credits section. Financial support was provided by the USDA Forest Service, State and Private Forestry through a multi-state grant. Project coordination and administrative lead was provided by Dr. Jarek Nowak, Forest Utilization Specialist in the Florida Forest Service.
